

Meagan Gardner individual assignment 1:

URL of commit history: <https://github.com/meagangardner/learning-about-version-control/commits/main/>

Screenshot of resolved merge conflict:

It is useful to work with branch pull requests to help reduce merge conflicts in the main branch. It also allows for easier review of individual work (especially with many group members). Finally this allows for peer review in general to ensure you are reviewing individuals work and agree with their code before merging it back into the main branch. This ensures the code being merged into the main branch has been reviewed by at least one person as well.